

flash website design

Flash web design or multimedia web design offers a level of interactivity that a static web site cannot. Multimedia is growing in use on the internet, business are trying to attract and keep a visitors attention in new ways everyday.

Flash website design is your solution.

Flash is a great solution for low band-width animations, presentations and websites. There are several factors that you should consider before pursuing a flash website.

So, what is Flash? Flash is a bandwidth friendly and browser independent vector-graphic animation technology. The main reason for the popularity of Flash is that the Flash file sizes are small so the it can be quickly downloaded. Compare free Flash website design quotes from multiple Flash website design companies. You'll be confident that you're getting a quality designer with affordable rates when you compare quotes which match your needs.

Flash allows impressive visual effects, video and sound. It is ideal for presentations, intros, banners and animated headers. We caution against the usage of Flash as the running platform for e-commerce and business related websites, since Flash content is not indexed by search engines. However, the usage of Flash for banners, website headers, etc., included in HTML pages, can make a wonderful addition to your website.

Costs and timeframe of a flash animation website design project

We offer a large variety of styles, from clean, modern and simple Flash websites, to the most complex ones, graphically speaking. Because our overhead is low, we offer much lower costs than other professional designers. We can customize a flash template you purchased from any of the website template site on the net.